

Human Geography, Urban Studies, Environment & Sustainability

Spring/Summer 2024

Welcome

Human Geography, Urban Studies and Environment and Sustainability are important, wide-ranging subjects for BUP and are core in tackling the biggest global challenges we are facing in our society, cities and our climate today. Urgent action and change are needed. We aim to publish books and series that engage in thoughtful, critical and practical ways with how the world is today and where it might be heading. These range from issues around urbanisation, climate change, environmental justice, resource threats, sustainable development, postcolonialism and urban development.

We welcome new book and series proposals, from specialist research monographs to topical titles for a wider audience, that look towards the future global landscape and are interdisciplinary and international in scope.

If you have an idea for a new book or series in Human Geography, Urban Studies, Environment and Sustainability that you would like to discuss please contact our editor Emily Watt: emily.watt@bristol.ac.uk.

The Battle for Britain

Crises, Conflicts and the Conjunction

John Clarke, The Open University

"A rich and readable book on what's been happening in British politics for the last decade, which thinks through the specificity and complexity of the relations of theory and politics."

LAWRENCE GROSSBERG, UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL

This book addresses the UK's social, political and economic turbulence, exploring proliferating crises and conflicts, from social dissent through rentier capitalism to the looming climate catastrophe and how they have produced a deepening 'crisis of authority' that forms the terrain of the Battle for Britain.

End of the Road

Reimagining the Street as the Heart of the City

William Riggs, University of San Francisco

"A necessary look at evolving the concept of the city street in search of something that serves humanity, and the individual, better."

ALISYN MALEK, COALITION FOR REIMAGINED MOBILITY

This book offers a unique look at streets as locations that can evolve to support the economic, social, cultural and natural aspects of cities. It focuses on how the power of streets can be harnessed to shape more dynamic spaces for walking, biking and living and stimulate urban vitality and community regeneration.

All We Want Is the Earth

Land, Labour and Movements Beyond Environmentalism

Patrick Bresnihan, Maynooth University and Naomi Millner,
University of Bristol

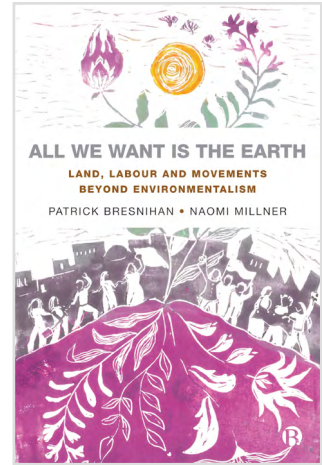

"If you think you know what environmentalism is, read this paradigm-changing book. Bresnihan and Millner unearth hidden histories and practices of movements that are not typically considered environmental and yet drive ecological care and repair today."

DIMITRIS PAPADOPOULOS, UNIVERSITY OF NOTTINGHAM

"An act of recovery, a reclaiming of movements and struggles that have been pushed out of frame by dominant interpretations of what gets to count as environmental politics."

KAI HERON, LANCASTER UNIVERSITY

Sixty years ago, an upsurge of social movements protested the ecological harms of industrial capitalism. In subsequent decades, environmentalism consolidated into forms of management and business strategy that aimed to tackle ecological degradation while enabling new forms of green economic growth. However, the focus on spaces and species to be protected saw questions of human work and histories of colonialism pushed out of view. This book traces a counter-history of modern environmentalism from the 1960s to the present day. It focuses on claims concerning land, labour and social reproduction arising at important moments in the history of environmentalism made by feminist, anti-colonial, Indigenous, workers' and agrarian movements. Many of these movements did not consider themselves 'environmental', and yet they offer vital ways forward in the face of escalating ecological damage and social injustice.

 UK July 2023
 US August 2023

In this timely book, Ed Atkins asks: Are we getting decarbonisation right? And how could it be made better for people and communities? In doing so, this book proposes a different type of energy transition. One that prioritises and takes opportunities to do better – to provide better jobs, promote community ownership and improve people’s homes and lives.

Contesting Aviation Expansion

Depoliticisation, Technologies of Government and Post-Aviation Futures

Steven Griggs, De Montfort University and David Howarth, University of Essex

Hardback £80.00 | US $139.95

Les Levidow argues that the current strategies for climate change mitigation perpetuate environmental harm, and offers alternative policies for real system change.

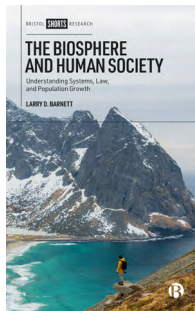

The Waste of the World

Consumption, Economies and the Making of the Global Waste Problem

Nicky Gregson, Durham University

Examining the root causes of the global waste problem, this book challenges existing policies, highlighting what needs to change if we are to get serious in tackling this global problem. It concludes with policy implications for shifting waste from an 'end-of-pipe' concern to being at the heart of the debate over decarbonisation.

Transforming Agriculture and Foodways

The Digital-Molecular Convergence

David Goodman, University of California

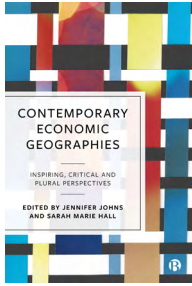

"A must-read!"

PHILIP H. HOWARD, MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Agri-food systems in the Global North are experiencing a wave of technological innovation in food production and ways of eating. This book is the first to analyse technological and socioeconomic change in leading food sectors, and it concludes that despite innovation, the food industry is adapting too slowly to the challenges of climate change.

Global Discourse

An interdisciplinary journal

of current affairs

Volume 14 | 2024 | 4 issues

IMPACT FACTOR 1.5 | CITE SCORE 3.3

Editor: Matthew Johnson, Northumbria University, UK

Deputy Editors: Shannon Brincat, University of the Sunshine Coast, Australia and Simon Mabon, Lancaster University, UK

North American Consultative Editor: Debra L. DeLaet, Drake University, USA

Global Discourse is an interdisciplinary, problem-oriented journal of applied contemporary thought operating at the intersection of politics, international relations, sociology and social policy. The Journal's scope is broad, encouraging interrogation of current affairs with regard to core questions of distributive justice, wellbeing, cultural diversity, autonomy, sovereignty, security and recognition.

All issues are themed and aimed at addressing pressing issues as they emerge. Rejecting the notion that publication is the final stage in the research process, Global Discourse seeks to foster discussion and debate between often artificially isolated disciplines and paradigms, with responses to articles encouraged and conversations continued across issues.

"Global Discourse is arguably the world-leading journal for provoking debates, connecting scholars and redefining how critical social challenges are framed and understood. It is a journal that is shaping the future rather than being stuck in the past."

Consumption and Society publishes articles that advance understandings of consumption as a societal phenomenon, embedded in, and constitutive of, socioeconomic, material and cultural configurations. The field of consumption studies was an early touchstone for major debates on macrosocial change, especially around the issues of globalisation and aestheticisation. Following in this tradition, Consumption and Society aims to revitalise the relevance of consumption studies for the societal challenges of the 21st century. The journal contributes to debates on contested aspects of consumption, such as environmental impacts, digitalisation, the shifting balance of collective versus private consumption, commodification and inequalities.

Consumption and Society is affiliated with the European Sociological Association's Research Network on Sociology of Consumption (ESARN5) and the Sustainable Consumption Research & Action Initiative (SCORAI) Europe, as well as the British Sociological Association's Consumption Study Group. A key feature of the journal is to reflect the pluralism of these networks.

"This new journal will be an important outlet for the latest theory and research, and will help us to redefine the field."

Journal of Poverty and Social Justice

Volume 32 | 2024 | 3 issues

IMPACT FACTOR 1.3 | CITE SCORE 1.5

Co-Editors: Joanna Mack, The Open University, UK and Marco Pomati, Cardiff University, UK

The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice provides an internationally unique forum for leading research on the themes of poverty and social justice.

Focusing on poverty and social exclusion, the journal explores links with social security, employment, area regeneration, housing, health, education and criminal justice, ethnicity, gender, disability and other social inequalities as they relate to social justice.

The journal encompasses an original and exciting mix of scholarly research articles and lively policy and practice-oriented discussions of topical questions.

Interdisciplinary and international in scope, the journal is essential reading for academics, students, policy makers and practitioners interested in poverty, social security, welfare and justice.

"The Journal of Poverty and Social Justice is clearly one of the best in the field, as I learned in preparing for my visit to the UK as UN Special Rapporteur on extreme poverty and human rights."

Work in the Global Economy

Volume 4 | 2023 | 2 issues

Editors in Chief: Sian Moore, University of Greenwich, UK and Kirsty Newsome, University of Sheffield, UK

Associate Editors: Donna Baines, University of British Columbia, Canada, Paul Brook, University of Leicester, UK, Rachel Cohen, City University of London, UK and Martin Krzywdzinski, WZB Berlin Social Science Center, Germany

Managing Editor: Abigail Marks, Newcastle University, UK

Consulting Editor: Paul Thompson, University of Stirling, UK

Work in the Global Economy is an interdisciplinary peer-reviewed journal that promotes understanding of work, and connections to work, in all forms and dimensions. This can mean a focus on labour processes, labour markets, labour organising and labour reproduction.

The Editors welcome wide-ranging contributions that extend and deepen connections between all aspects of the division of labour: from the production networks that underpin the global economy, to the gendered and racial divides that shape how work is allocated and organised.

“Amid the resurgence of interest in work and labour around the world, this new journal, with its impressive editorial team, is a promising addition to the field.”

Policy & Politics

Advancing knowledge in public and social policy

Volume 52 | 2024 | 4 issues

IMPACT FACTOR 4.7 | CITE SCORE 6.3

Editors: Oscar Berglund, University of Bristol, UK,
Claire A. Dunlop, University of Exeter, UK,
Elizabeth A. Koebele, University of Nevada Reno, USA
and Chris Weible, University of Colorado, USA

Policy & Politics is a world-leading journal that provides the primary outlet for scholars and reflexive practitioners to engage with the most pressing governance challenges inhibiting the continued advancement in the study of public policy and its practice. These challenges span the globe and link communities in a common struggle to realise and sustain human dignity and quality of life for all.

Policy & Politics serves scholars seeking an outlet that accepts these challenges and strives to overcome them. Three principles guide the journal:

- (1) comprehensive coverage of public policy, politics and social issues;
- (2) inclusivity in research approaches;
- (3) relevance for science and practice.

"Brings into focus two subjects that should be studied together. It provides a platform for informed, reflective and rigorously evidenced research and does so in a way that addresses issues that matter."

Global Political Economy

Volume 2 | 2023 | 2 issues

Editors in Chief: Mònica Clua-Losada, University of Texas Rio Grande Valley, USA and Phoebe V. Moore, University of Essex, UK

Associate Editors: David Bailey, University of Birmingham, UK, Bernd Bonfert, Cardiff University, UK, Gareth Bryant, University of Sydney, Australia, Inga Rademacher, King's College London, UK, Roberto Roccu, King's College London, UK, Chandrima Roy, University of Leicester, UK, Saori Shibata, University of Sheffield, UK and Yuliya Yurchenko, University of Greenwich, UK

Global Political Economy is the much-anticipated journal for the Discipline of global political economy, with an explicit intention of cross-disciplinarity, spanning international relations, sociology, feminism and gender studies, political science, business studies, science and technology studies, communications, economics, geography and more, encouraging debates and discussions across these arenas.

The journal covers issues that concern people, whether inside the academy or outside of it, looking at the global political economy and its systemic contradictions, constant crises and upheaval. Global Political Economy brings fresh insights into complex and often unseen modes, forms and operations of global power relations, social forces and historical change.

"This much-needed innovative, inclusive and interdisciplinary journal fills an important gap in academic journals dedicated to global political economy. I have no doubt that Global Political Economy will make lasting and vital impacts on the debates."

Voluntary Sector Review

An International Journal Of Third Sector
Research, Policy And Practice
Volume 15 | 2024 | 3 issues

IMPACT FACTOR 1.5 | CITE SCORE 1.8

Co-Editors: Daiga Kamerāde, University of Salford, UK,
James Rees, University of Wolverhampton, UK and Lili Wang, Arizona State University, USA

Consulting Editor: Carl Milofsky, Bucknell University, USA

Voluntary Sector Review publishes accessible, high-quality peer-reviewed papers on all aspects of the voluntary, community, civil society and third sectors. A unique feature of the Voluntary Sector Review is the combination of papers aimed at academic, policy and practice audiences. This is designed to ensure that the results of the latest academic research are made available to the widest possible audience and are grounded in a close engagement with both policy and practical issues.

The Voluntary Sector Review is an explicitly interdisciplinary and international journal – the first to be European based. We welcome contributions from authors from all disciplines and all countries. We are interested in all aspects of voluntary, community, civil society and third-sector activity.

“Voluntary Sector Review publishes outstanding research for academic, policy, and practice audiences. I especially appreciate VSR’s efforts to publish work from a variety of research paradigms and perspectives.”
